DIRECTOR'S REPORT:

Daly City Youth Commission – Director Curran introduced Recreation Program Supervisor Edgardo Bolanos, who gave the overview of the Daly City Youth Commission and gave his insight on the Daly City Youth Commission as a program that gives the youths and teens of Daly City a voice. They currently have several programs for youths and teens ranging from DC Teens to the Volunteer Leadership Program (VLP). Anything that comes from the Daly City Youth Commission comes from the VLP and DC Teens Program themselves. He then introduced two of the Daly City Youth Commission teens to present in front of the commission; Patricia Sumang and Kaylen Gapuz. Patricia and Kaylen make up 2/3 of the youth commission and stated that the goal of the Daly City Youth Commission was to provide youth feedback and represent the youth voice to promote a healthier community. They also help in providing opportunities and resources to teen residents of Daly City and promote education, mental health, and political and global awareness. They hope to reach these goals and prepare teens for the future through community outreach, events, and more. Their current objectives are to provide resources and supports whether it is academic support groups or education on mental and sexual health. They also work on allowing teens the opportunity to give back and become involved with the community. One of the ways that the Daly City Youth Commission reaches out the teens and the public is through social media. The benefits of the Daly City Youth Commission are real involvement in decision making and planning within the community.

They also get to develop skills that will help them in college and allow them to also learn more about the city and its people.
